SUBSCRIPTION $2.00 PER YEAR

BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS., FRIDAY, JULY 13, 1951

VOL. 60 — NO. 30

Observations...

By the Editor

The voters of Hancock County have had the opportunity to hear Hugh White speak in the interest of his candidacy for Governor. He is the only candidate so far who has had a speaking engagement here, with the exception of Jimmie Walker who came in unannounced; but this week we will be afforded the pleasure of hearing two of the gubernatorial candidates, Sam Lumpkin on Friday evening at 7:30 opposite the Louisville and Nashville Depot, and Mrs. Mary Dawson Cain, the first woman in Mississippi who has ever aspired for this high office. She will speak at the courthouse at 6:00 o'clock p.m. Saturday, . . . Mrs. Cain is the publisher of the Summit Sun, and you may rest assured you will hear the problems of the day and her platform capably discussed . . . she is an able speaker and does not pull her punches particularly as to the National Administration. . . .

The incident about the Asphalt Paving Company threatening to sue the City for damages for having supposedly unloaded some slag on property they were supposed to have under lease from the Louisville and Nashville Railroad struck us as it did many other folks, that it was simply an act to delay the program for the surfacing of the streets in Bay St. Louis, and perhaps lend some embarrassment to the City Commissioners, who may be of a different political school . . . We can never condone the placing of personal or political feeling above community good, for if we had allowed such feeling to control our position we would certainly have opposed and not have fought for the location of the bridge at the head of Ulman Avenue. Until such time as the people of this lovely little city can overcome their personal feelings in matters affecting the welfare of the City of Bay St. Louis, we are not going to make much progress. It is alright to take your politics and your personal feelings seriously, but certainly business men should be able to rise to the occasion when the welfare of their community is at stake, and be able to sit around the table with hands joined in the common cause of civic improvement, and when the day arrives that this is made possible in Bay St. Louis, then and then only, will we see a march of progress in our midst . . . remember the adage, "Alas, small men hate, great men pity."

Rotary Installs

Arthur Chapman assumed the presidency of the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club at the annual installation of officers and banquet Thursday, July 6, at Hotel Reed.

Other officers elected to serve for the coming year are vice-president, Bob Hamilton, and secretary, Carl Smith (re-elected). Other members of the Board of Directors are Ben Hille, Howard LeTissier, Dan Russell, P. J. Treutlein and Alden Mauffray.

About 50 members, their wives and guests attended the installation and banquet.

Teen-Agers Near End Of Drive

The Teen-Age Club needs only $97.50 to reach the quota of $1,000 set at the beginning of the drive for maintenance funds several weeks ago.

To date $902.50 have been collected through donations from interested public-spirited citizens in Bay St. Louis, and area.

This money will be used for operating expenses for the Bay St. Louis Youth Center for one year.

On another page of this paper, we are printing an editorial, written by its president, expressing the thanks of the Teen-Age Club. These teen-agers are deeply grateful to the adults who came to their aid by responding to their plea for help.

Sgt. W. Bontemps Returns From Korea

ROSS BARNETT TO SPEAK HERE

Ross R. Barnett, candidate for governor, will outline his stepped up agricultural and industrial program when he speaks at Bay St. Louis at 3 p.m., Tuesday, July 17.

The 52 year old former president of the Mississippi Bar Association is making an average of four talks a day as he continues his bid for election to the state's highest office.

The outspoken attorney and farmer has a 23-point platform that embraces the needs of the farmer, business man, working man, educator, needy aged and persons of all walks of life.

His rebuild the soil program is attracting considerable attention. Mr. Barnett, who was born on a farm in Leake County, points out that the state has several million acres of substandard, unproductive land. He advocates the reclaiming of this land through scientific agricultural principles.

His industrial program emphasizes the need for Mississippi to get more industries. For every factory located in Mississippi in the past 10 years, from two to five have been located in each of the neighboring states, he says in calling for a streamline selling job.

Sun Oil Starts Drilling Activities

The Sun Oil Company is looking into possible oil development in Hancock County, as plans emerge for drilling operations.

Drilling began last Tuesday five miles from Logtown. Harold Weston, owner of the H. Weston Lumber Company, reported that the well is being drilled on his lumber company's property. He described the position as the northeast quarter of Section 28.

Local Youths Learn The Operation Of Government At Boys' State

Last week the Governor voted to repeal prohibition, but it was not Wright. It was Governor Kellogg of Magnolia Boys' State.

Boys from all over Mississippi gathered at Bellhaven College June 30 to learn the ways and means of the operation of state and local government. Youngsters were elected to the offices of Governor, Secretary of State, State Tax Commissioner, Mayor, Representative, Senator, and all other offices of the state and municipality; and for one week, they served as the guiding officials.

They wrote and introduced bills that were passed or vetoed; they edited the newspaper, supervised elections and were shown the same respect that their offices demand in life situation.

Bruce Favre, 17 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Favre, and Vernon Parker, 17 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Parker, attended Boys' State from June 30 to July 7 under the sponsorship of The Pere LeDuc Council of the Knights of Columbus and the Bay St. Louis' Rotary Club, respectively.

Favre, a graduate of St. Stanislaus in the class of 1951, was elected to the House of Representatives, chairman of the Education Committee, and reported for the Boys' State papers.

Parker, who will be a senior at Bay High next year, was a Public Service Commissioner.

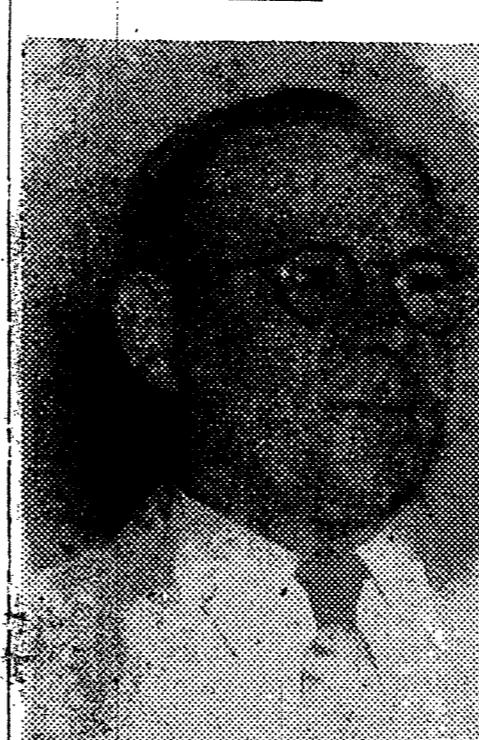

Both boys took an active part in Boys' State; and in a week, they learned of what the Government is and what the individual's responsibility to community, state and nation and the belief that good citizenship is only in part a matter of knowledge and intellect.

Boys' State was born out of a need for youth training in practical citizenship and functioning, in cooperation with, and incidental to, the major purpose of the schools. It was originated by the

STATE OF MISSISSIPPI COUNTY OF HANCOCK AFFIDAVIT

Personally appeared before me, the undersigned authority in and for the aforesaid County and State, J. Roland Weston and James I. Ansley, each of whom are qualified surveyors, who individually and severally stated on oath as follows, to-wit:

That on the 11th day of July, 1951, they were handed the original lease-contract entered into by and between the Asphalt Paving Company and the L. & N. Railroad Company, wherein the L. & N. Railroad Company leased a certain piece of land, for the purposes expressed therein, to the Asphalt Paving Company; that they made a close and accurate survey of the property leased by the L. & N. Railroad Company to the Asphalt Paving Company and that they, together, FOUND AND DISCOVERED THAT THE SLAG BEONGING TO THE CITY OF BAY ST. LOUIS, MISSISSIPPI IS DEFINITELY NOT LOCATED ON THE PROPERTY LEASED BY THE L. & N. RAILROAD COMPANY TO THE ASPHALT PAVING COMPANY AND THAT NO PART OF SAID SLAG IS ON SAID LEASED PROPERTY; that the nearest pile of slag belonging to the City of Bay St. Louis is at least twenty (20) feet from the property leased by the L. & N. Railroad Company to the Asphalt Paving Company.

Echoing the sentiments of all returning war veterans, Bontemps, who is among the first Korean campaign veterans of Hancock County to return home, said, with a smile, "It's good to be home."

He will report to Camp Chaffee, Arkansas for reassignment July 31.

My commission expires: November 30, 1953.

Commissioners Ladner and Glover state that the City will proceed with their paving program as contemplated, and will start Monday morning, and that the slag in question will be moved as needed by the contractor W. J. Runyon and Son.

The asphalt paving Company had notified the City not to move the slag until such time as an agreement could be reached as to the damages suffered by the Asphalt Paving Company. The City Commissioners promptly notified the Company and their attorneys Gex & Gex, that they could see no liability on the part of the City, and that the slag was unloaded in this particular spot at the instance of the Railroad Company and that they would remove the slag when they needed the same.

Erwin Bontemps, who was born in 1928, is a member of the Knights of Columbus and the Bay St. Louis' Rotary Club, respectively.

A. Genin Files Suit Against City For $4936.51

A suit has been filed by Alvin Genin, against the Mayor and Commissioners of the City of Bay St. Louis for the collection of the sum of $4936.51, which it is claimed by the plaintiff is due him for the furnishing and distributing of certain asphalt materials on streets of the City of Bay St. Louis by the firm of Gex & Cue. This work it is claimed was done by the firm of Gex & Cue under the former administration, and the claim was assigned to Alvin Genin.

The declaration sets out that the former administration advertised for bids for asphalt and asphalt cement, and that on June 7, 1948, the firm of Gex & Cue, submitted bids and that the then governing officials of the City of Bay St. Louis accepted the bid of Gex & Cue, and the City ordered the material distributed on the various streets of the City of Bay St. Louis.

The material it is charged, was placed on the following streets: DeMontuzin Avenue from Beach to Dunbar Avenue; Bay View Court from Beach Boulevard to Second Street; Treatment from St. Joseph Academy South to Citizen Street on Beach Boulevard or Front Street.

St. Charles Street from Beach Boulevard to Railroad Avenue; Ballantine Street from Third to Railroad Avenue.

Nearside Avenue from Main Street to U. S. Highway 90.

The present administration it is alleged in the declaration, has refused to pay the account, and the suit was brought to enforce the collection.

The declaration sets out that Gex & Cue, being legally entitled to the payment of the amount, placed the material in the CAA plan calling for 123 new or improved airports in Mississippi, is the fifth in a series announced annually as required under the federal airport act. The program is to provide a system of adequate airports in the plan to meet civilian needs.

The CAA said that the listing of an airport in the plan does not insure it of federal aid.

The original airport act authorized a total of $50,000,000 for the entire program, which was to be completed June 30, 1953. Last year Congress extended the time until June 30, 1958.

Other Mississippi airports in the CAA plan are Columbia, Gulfport, Harrison County, Jackson County, Long Beach, Lucedale, Ocean Springs, Pascagoula, Pass Christian, Poplarville, Waynesboro and Wiggins.

Seaplane bases also include Biloxi, Gulfport and Pascagoula.

BREAKS NECK

Joseph Gentilucci of New Orleans, who was visiting his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wegman in Waveland, received a broken neck Sunday when he dove into shallow water from the Wegman's pier.

Gentilucci failed to test the depth of the water before he dove into what he thought was deep water.

At present he is at Baptist hospital in New Orleans.

McEnroe's "Silver Whistle" Brings Youth To Bay St. Louis Audience

"I came here to discover if there is any point in living to be 77 years of age. I have learned that a ripe old age is well worthwhile—so, having learned, I'm leaving."

"The Silver Whistle," three act comedy by Robert McEnroe, has proved that it is worth living to be a ripe old age, because as one of the characters in the production now going on at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, stated, "You are only as old as you feel," and he shows them how to feel young, not old.

BOYS STATE

department of Illinois, and the first one was convened at Springfield, Illinois, in June 1935. It developed from an idea that youth should be offered a better view of the practical operation of government; that the individual is an integral part and therefore responsible for the character and success of government.

Upon arrival at Bellhaven College, the boys were divided into their respective parties - the Nationalists and Federalists. The candidates then began to campaign for their respective offices, and by Sunday night, activity was high.

Elections were held Monday morning, and because of a miscount, the election results were not disclosed until that night. The new officials took their oaths of office, to which they were elected, in the Capitol, and for the rest of the week, with the exception of Wednesday when they attended a political rally, they spent their time learning to run state and local government.

Fayre interviewed Governor Edmund L. Wright Sunday for the newspaper on which he works. In this interview, the Governor was quoted as saying: "I think Magazine Boys' State is one of the finest organizations in the United States." Both Fayre and Parker, upon their return, said: "We go along with the Honorable Governor in his statement. Boys' State is more than a spring toward us all, boys, the true meaning of the often misunderstood word Democracy."

Mrs. Jules E. Schloth as the proprie, Mr. Goss shows the talents of a coming series in the local theatre.

Upcoming performances will be given by Miss Charlotte Schaeffer, Miss Trapp, entertainment of the Home for the Aged; Rev. Charlie R. Johnson, a Reverend; Mrs. Harold Keete, a famous Hawaian's gaylon companion, whom in the end, disclose her identity.

Miss roles were taken by Mrs. Leontine as Mr. Cherry; James Fillmore as the Bishop; Walter Ratcliffe, Esther Shay; C. Drury Blair, Mrs. Beach, and Dr. B. J. Blane as Mr. Roddy.

Many of the lines spoken throughout the play, particularly by Frewenter, carry messages that can be adapted to the lives of many in the world today. The play, in itself, is one of the most outstanding ever written by the author because it carries with it a message of eternal youth for all.

As Frewenter says, "All life is a gamble. You bet against your destiny every time you set your watch. Life is lived at a faster pace when you have an interest in the odds. Let our colors bold be flaunted so that all will know we are again the brave at heart."

This play, which has been ably directed and produced by local talent, should be a must on everyone's list of plays for the year; after seeing it everyone will imbibe some of the author's theory of life and eternal youth; because, as McEnroe's leading character says, "The old dog crawled away to die and hid amid the thistle. County Agent NotesCheck Livestock Registration Papers

By HOWARD SIMMONS

Owners of registered livestock are urged to check their registration papers to make sure that they are up-to-date. It is easier and cheaper to transfer all registered animals when they are bought and delivered. It is also cheaper to register an animal before it is six months old.

Up to 90 days after delivery of a registered Jersey female it costs $2.50 to transfer ownership; after 90 days, it costs a dollar more.

The number of dairy cattle is increasing in Mississippi and it is necessary that these new heifers be fed well. The first year of life is very important and great influence to the size of the mature cow. Feed a small amount of grain each day until about three months before the first calf is to be dropped. Then place her with the milking herd and feed the same as for a dry cow.

Plan your feed for the years ahead and breed your heifers to fatten in the fall. Plan for full grown and thirty heifers; thin unweaned heifers never develop into large profitable dairy cows.

FARM HOME WEEK
Make a date now to attend Mississippi Farm and Home Week, State College, July 16-19.

If you cannot attend the entire event, or all means see some of it. The best in farm and home labor saving devices will be on display. Plan to be among the first in the state to see the new motion picture "LAND AND LIFE." The state premiere will be held in Lee Hall Auditorium at 7:15 p.m., July 19th.

POULTRY

Adequate ventilation, water and food are the most important considerations in raising poultry at this season. Chickens require more water per unit of weight than any other animal on the farm. An egg is 74 percent water; therefore, plenty of water is required to produce lots of eggs.

Lack of water, poor ventilation and crowded conditions in the houses cause more losses of poultry than anything else during the summer time.

GRASS WORMS

Grass worm outbreaks were reported in this county during the week. They are striped, pale green to black caterpillars with a prominent upside down "Y" on their heads. They strip leaves from the entire fields, prefers grasses, late corn; pasture grasses, and oats later in the season.

They can be controlled with 10 to 15 pounds of either 20% toxaphene or 5% DDT per acre.

It is very important that you start poisoning as soon as the worms are found in the field.

School Leaders Make Reports

Reports were heard from the public schools of Hancock County on what has been done for youth and children in the past ten years in the field of education at a committee meeting Monday of this week.

Mrs. Mary Perkins, principal of the Waveland Grammar school, gave a concise resume of the continued progress of the school under her supervision.

She reported a special course in reading through the eighth grade, the books for this course being purchased by the school. Whenever a new course or extra course is inaugurated teachers first prepare themselves for instruction of this course, Miss Perkins said. The school is now preparing for an Audio-Visual Education course, to be opened in September.

In 1946 the school lunch room expenditure consisted of furnishing milk for the children. Today there is a type A lunch room which is operated in one of the rooms of the Town Hall. New playground equipment has been installed; social programs in Art and Music, 500 new books in the library and other improvements.

S. J. Ingram, superintendent of city schools, gave an expansive report on the many improvements—the purchase of land and a war assets building for the new modern and up-to-date Youth Center; and lunch room in Webb School and kitchen improvements in the Valena C. Jones school. He also stated that there are 6 white teachers of whom 2 hold A. B. and B. S. degrees. All teachers in Valena C. Jones school are college graduates and the principal has a Masters Degree.

Among the valuable services to the young people are a radio shop for boys, driving lessons for boys and girls and physical education for boys and girls. Audio-Visual Education used in Science and Home Making and in Physical Education together with other slide and film strips for younger children were offered by the school, Mr. Ingram said.

There are three accredited public high schools in the county which are members of the Southern Association of High Schools. They are Kiln, Sellers and Bay High.

Mrs. Genevieve Daniel Hamilton gave a report on the Jeans Work which is primarily for the improvement and advancement of

Hancock County Asked To Cooperate In Federal Government's Drive To Recover Idle Scrap Metal; Situation Serious

Farmers, industrial leaders and owners of automobile "grave yards" of Hancock County were asked by the Federal Government this week to cooperate in relieving the present nationwide shortage of scrap supplies at steel mills so that the national program of rearmament could be carried on.

A concerted effort is being made to get scrap iron from plants, warehouses and other industrial centers, from farm, and from automobile "graveyards" and getting it moved into market channels to save the nation from a grave shortage at this time was requested in a appeal received here from Merrill C. Lofton, south central regional director of the U. S. Department of Commerce in Atlanta.

In view of scrap prices and standards at the nation's terminals and foundries are "dangerously low," Mr. Lofton stated, and unless scrap supplies are increased by six percent within the next four months the steel products program will be forced to clip its wings.

Without sufficient supplies of scrap, steel which is essential to the present needs of the armed forces, as well as defense, to meet the demand of various industries but especially of the production of civilian consumer goods such as automobiles, refrigerators and stoves, he noted.

As evidence of the serious mess created by the freeze, Mr. Lofton, a Commerce Department official pointed to the fact that two large producers recently were operating with less than a two-day supply of scrap and that in other mills have less than a one-week supply.

The recent consumption of scrap metal in the United States, Mr. Lofton said, even high during the peak years of World War II, the highest wartime consumption was 24½ million tons a year. Last year, 29½ million tons were used and this year the consumption is expected to rise to 32½ million tons or more, an increase over 1950 of at least 3 million tons, he said. "It would certainly help in this worthy campaign, by spotting the scrap metal that may be lying around and getting in touch with the nearest scrap dealer so that it can be moved to market and thence to the steel mills which need it very badly," Mr. Lofton said. "It will find its way eventually into some weapon of defense, or some defense supporting instrument sures were removed when the buying public and business realized they could depend on stable prices of goods in the future."

"Although peace in Korea is off, Korea is but one of many grave international situations, and in the year ahead, there will be still more defense production. The inflationary pressures will be stronger than ever. But these pressures can be controlled," he said.

MANUFACTURERS DISTRIBUTE TO BUSINESS FIRMS

The District OPS in Jackson has distributed 80,026 price regulations to more than 35,000 business establishments and furnished speakers for 56 trade, general, professional and club meetings throughout Mississippi since the office was opened in January.

Many price regulations affecting the sale of practically all commodities and services, covering all types of business establishments in the state are now in effect under provisions of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

Acting Director Wade H. Creekmore pointed out that every effort has been made to get needed information relative to the national price control program to business people, trade groups and various organizations throughout the state.

Mr. Creekmore announced that the following price specialists have been assigned to the various business fields and will handle OPS regulations affecting those commodities: G. Rice Wilson, John E. DeLoach, William H. Riddle and Aaron M. Edwards, food products including livestock, meat, grains, insecticides and fertilizer. These specialists handle regulations pertaining to restaurants, wholesale and retail groceries and other food products.

In the consumer goods field are Archie M. Haley and Samuel Moody Jr., handling regulations dealing with consumer hard and soft goods. The service field is being handled by Zeno L. Manrum.

Regulations covering the sale of industrial materials and manufactured products are handled by C. L. Weston, R. A. Wilson and J. C. Riddell.

In summarizing the six months OPS record, Mr. Creekmore stated, "the stabilization program has put the brakes on the inflationary spiral which got under way right after the war began in Korea."

Continuing, he pointed out that between the outbreak of the Korean war and February 15th of this year, prices of consumer goods rose 8%. Since the general price freeze took effect, the consumer price index has risen less than 1%. Between Korea and the price freeze, wholesale prices rose almost 15%. Since the freeze they have risen less than 1%. The prices of basic commodities rose more than 58% from the time the Korean war started and OPS controls went into effect. Since that time, they have declined more than 11%."

In addition, much of the uncertainty that beset business and the public last summer and fall has disappeared with the stabilization program. Many of the psychological inflationary pres-

OPS NEWS

OPS IS HOLDING LINE UNTIL NEW LAW IS ENACTED

While OPS was making every effort to maintain the status quo in price stabilization pending enactment of new legislation by Congress, the record of the program during the past five months was summarized this week by Wade H. Creekmore, Acting OPS District Director in Jackson.

Mr. Creekmore pointed out that OPS has extended the OPS program for one month to July 31 with a resolution providing that during the period no price increases shall be permitted to become effective if they are lower than the ceiling price in effect at the time of enactment of the resolution.

This means, he explained, that all regulations in effect on June 30th are to remain in effect but that no rollbacks, such as planned in beef prices and for certain manufactured products, will be allowed to go into effect during the period of temporary extension. Accordingly, OPS has issued General Overriding Regulation 13 to eliminate requirements for rollbacks in prices after June 30 and to freeze ceiling price provisions then in effect on manufactured products.

Retailers and wholesalers who are subject to ceiling price regulations already in effect are not concerned with the GOR 13, he said.

In summarizing the six months OPS record, Mr. Creekmore stated, "the stabilization program has put the brakes on the inflationary spiral which got under way right after the war began in Korea."

Survival Under Atomic Attack

(Released by Hancock County Civil Defense Council through the cooperation of this newspaper.)

Do not be misled by loose talk of imaginary weapons a hundred or a thousand times as powerful as the atomic bomb. All cause destruction by exactly the same means, yet one 20,000-ton bomb would not create nearly as much damage as 10,000 two-ton bombs dropped a little distance apart. This is because the larger bombs "waste" too much power near the center of the explosion. From the practical point of view it doesn't matter whether a building is completely vaporized or whether it is simply knocked into a pile of rubble.

To be more specific, a modern atomic bomb can do heavy damage to houses and buildings roughly 2 miles away. But doubling its power will extend the range of damage to only about 2½ miles. In the same way, if there were a bomb 100 times as powerful, it would reach out only a little more than 4½, not 100 times as far.

And remember: All these calculations of your chances of survival assume that you have absolutely no advance warning of the attack.

Just like fire bombs and ordinary high explosives, atomic weapons cause most of their death and damage by blast and heat. So first let's look at a few things you can do to escape these two dangers.

WHAT ABOUT BLAST?

If you have only a second warning, there is one important thing you can do to lessen your chances of injury by blast. Fall flat on your face.

More than half of all wounds are the result of being bodily tossed about or being struck by falling and flying objects. If you lie down flat you are least likely to be thrown about. If you have time to pick a good spot, there is less chance of being struck by flying glass and other things.

If you are inside a building, the best place to flatten out is closest against the cellar wall. If you haven't time to get down there, lie down along an inside wall, or duck under a bed or table. But don't pick a spot right opposite the windows or you are almost sure to be pelted with shattered glass.

If you are outside, either drop down alongside the base of a good substantial building—avoid flimsy, wooden ones likely to be blown over on top of you—or else jump in any handy ditch or gutter.

When you fall flat to protect yourself from a bombing, don't look up to see what is coming. Even during the daylight hours, the flash from a bursting A-bomb can cause several moments of blindness, if you're facing that way. To prevent it, bury your face in your arms and hold it there for 10 or 12 seconds after the explosion. That will also help to keep flying-glass and other things out of your eyes.

From where I sit, a lot of us are sometimes a little overeager to "sound off" before we really understand what it's all about. Let's try to see the other fellow's side in whatever he does—how he votes, what he thinks, whether his preference is for a glass of beer or buttermilk—rather than simply blast out anyone who "gets in the way" of our ideas in these matters.

That was the cry of many Mississippians in 1938. Hugh White heard their cry and called a special session of our State Legislature.

He recommended and fought—against bitter opposition—for the passage of the Homestead Exemption Law.

This law, as passed by the legislature and signed by Hugh White, exempts your home and 160 acres of your farmland from all taxes except bonded debts of your city and county—which cannot be exempted under the Mississippi Constitution.

No other candidate for governor had any part in the passage of this law that has saved you many dollars—and in many cases saved your farm and home.

Give White the Green Light
No Substitute for Experience

Submitted to and approved by C. D. Fair, Campaign Manager

Hugh White called this extra session because he knew the tax burden was too heavy for farmers and town folks alike. Hugh White believes that government of any kind at any level is to help the people—not to take advantage of them.

Check your homestead exemption savings for this year. Multiply it by 13. That's about how much money Hugh White has helped you save. That's how much additional money you have to purchase nice extras for your family and home.

The Homestead Exemption Law, and the results of other improvements by Hugh White, have made your life a better one. Hugh White's experienced leadership is valuable to you, and there's no substitute for experience.

Weekly News Letter

By W. F. Bond, Commissioner
State Department Public Welfare

Since the beginning of the political campaign in the state this summer, from time to time we have been asked the following questions, which we have answered to the best of our ability:

(1) Is there an old age pension in Mississippi? A: No. There is a cash relief program called public assistance for the benefit of the needy aged over 65, needy blind of any age, and dependent children under 18 years of age, and needy unemployed unable to get around, much between the ages of 18 and 65 who without this help would not have sufficient food, clothing, or shelter with no children able singly or altogether to furnish these things.

(2) Is an applicant for this help required to make an oath of any kind? A: No. No oath of any kind has ever been required.

(3) Where does the money come from to support this program? A: Appropriated by the Legislature out of the State Treasury and by Congress out of the Federal Treasury. The Federal Government gives $15.00 of the first $20.00 for the needy aged and the needy blind and above this amount dollar for dollar until the total amount reaches $50.00 per month.

(4) How much money per month does a needy old person receive from this fund at the present time in Mississippi? A: The law limits the amount to $30.00. Of this $30.00 it can be seen that the Federal Government would put up $20.00 and the State $10.00. If our State law should be amended so as to make the maximum $50.00 instead of $30.00, a $50.00 check sent to any old person or blind person would be made up of $30.00 from the Federal Government and $20.00 from the State.

(5) How many are now receiving help in the welfare program? A: The number varies from month to month. The approximate average for the last few months has been 60,000 people, 30,000 children, 2800 blind, and 500 unemployables.

(6) Who pays the cost of administration? A: It is paid out of Federal and State Funds, the Federal part being over above what is sent to the State for other purposes.

(7) Are the counties required to put up any funds to help pay money grants to the needy aged, needy blind, needy children and for the cost of administration? A: No. In most states the counties are required to put up part of this expense but in Mississippi it is all provided by the State and Federal Governments.

Unrolling a Tree?

Great machines like this, in many Mississippi plants reduce sections of big trees to continuous paper-like sheets of veneering for various commercial uses. Other machines in other plants cut logs into lumber or reduce them to pulp for newsprint, wall board, etc.

From these activities the people of Mississippi received more than $32 million dollars last year!

That's important money, but even more important are these facts: the income of Mississippians from lumbering and wood products has trebled since 1940, at the same time, our income from practically all branches of industry and agriculture has risen remarkably CEASE FIRE?

By the time this appears in print there is a probability that the exchange of bullets and the slaughter of young men will have ceased, temporarily at least, in the Korean War. There is also a possibility that the Communists are trotting out a Trojan horse in order to gain time. By this last we mean that they may attempt to make the term of an armistice so difficult that the United States would find it unprofitable to accept them. Then the Communists could claim that they wanted to bring the war to an end but the "imperial dictators, the enemy of the common man, the United States, didn't want the war to end. However, we are of the opinion now that the cease fire will be agreed to. The only obstacle, as we see it, may be encountered later on when the final agreement for peace in that area is attempted to be written. Then, after the Communists have had a breathing spell with possible new commitments from Russia for additional assistance, they could still undertake to make the term of peace so difficult that the country could not afford to repeat.

The better opinion now is that Russia, in which really started the Korean War, is becoming apathetic to it. China will not do it alone, say neither without Russia agreeing to come in with her own might as well as her guns, planes, etc. Of course, this would mean World War III and as we always contend, Russia doesn't want that and moreover, it is not ready for it.

WHAT HAPPENS AFTER CEASE FIRE?

He who thinks that our troubles with Communistic Russia are over with the cessation of hostilities in Korea is indeed a most optimistic person. As we have repeatedly pointed out in this column and elsewhere, Korea is just an incident in and a part of the master plan for the Kremlin. And, if that incident is closed, you can well expect other "incidents" to be begun in other parts of the world. Russia does not want war but she certainly doesn't want peace. She may purposefully, in the hope of lulling us into a false sense of security, permit a period of apparent peace. But "incidents" may be expected in Germany, in Iran, in Yugoslavia, via, or some other part of the globe. These will not be clashes between Russian soldiers and others, but again they will be provoked by Russia by forcing some one of the satellites to attack some small free nation or people. Again the drive for civil war among the people of small nations is constantly being maneuvered.

Therefore, as much as we dislike it, this country must continue a program of preparedness and keeping its powder dry. This could well last for many years.
